[6 ×10 = 60]

a) "From now on, I am your slave." Why did Rehman call himself a slave?

Ans: Rehman could not repay the amount he borrowed from Lala and thus he was called in his home. Instead of punishing or extorting money from him, he was given two calves and all his dues were spared. Observing all these, Rehman could not control his tears and called himself a slave of that person.

b) What do you feel about the issue - school raising the fees? Write five sentences.

Ans: I feel the below points for the above-mentioned issue:

(i) To improve the school infrastructure.

(ii) To ensure that 25% of the seats should be reserved for EWS.

(iii) To maintain teacher-students ratio 1:30.

(iv) To provide a clean and properly maintained toilets for male and female.

(v) To provide better transportation facilities

[Any other personal opinions will be accepted]

c) How did Captain Anuj Nayyar prove himself worthy of a "Maha Vir Chakra"?

Ans: The task of recapturing the Point 4875 was given to Captain Anuj Nayyar, of the 17 Jat Regiment, and his team. With the orders of Nayyar, the soldiers fought with the enemies valiantly turning the peak into the dust of battle. During the fight, a grenade fall very close to Captain Nayyar, injuring him fatally. Even when grievously injured, he continued to fight with handful of soldiers. And finally, accomplished the task by sacrificing his life. Due to his valour, leadership and supreme sacrifice, he proved himself worthy of Maha Vir Chakra.

d) Why did Hughie feel sorry for the painter's model?

Ans: Hughie finds that Alan is painting a portrait of an old man who appears to be a beggar. The old man was heavily wrinkled and he looks extremely sad. He was bent with age, looked weak and ill. He has a rough walking stick in one hand. While in the other hand, he is holding out an old hat as if to ask for money. These entire made Hughie feel sorry for the model.

e) Why did Rehman sell his cow to Lala Daudayal? What does this show about him?

Ans: Rehman needed money desperately so he went out to sell his cow. He was surrounded by many customers offering higher than expected, but he sold his cow to Lala Daudayal for the loss of five valuable rupees, just to ensure that his cow did not fall into the hands of butcher.

This shows Rehman's compassion for his cow that even after selling to Lala Daudayal, he requested him not to beat her.

f) Was Rehman a good son? Give examples from the story.

Ans: According to me, Rehman was a good son. His aged mother once wished to go to Haj pilgrimage. Knowing that the journey would be unaffordable for them, he borrowed money from one of the merciless moneylender just to fulfill his mother's last wish. After two years, when he was asked to repay the amount, he could not do so as his mother was not keeping well and crops were also poor. Just then his mother died and he was again falling short of money after borrowing from his neighbours to perform her funeral rites – the last chance to serve his mother. Being left with no choice, he mustered all his courage to ask for loan from the same moneylender and performed his mother's last rites. In such a desperate state, he never lost hope to perform his duties as a son by putting himself in a huge debt.

g) What qualities of Mushir did you like? Why? Explain in detail.

Ans: Mushir is a young, talented, energetic youth whose behavior portrays love, selflessness and dedication. Making the manja of a kite is not a piece of cake. It requires patience and Mushir had it. In addition to this, he was thoughtful and caring son. His good behaviour is a lesson to all children who loves their parents. Mushir is one of the rare jewels of India.

h) Give an account of the bravery displayed by Captain Vikram Batra during the capture of Point 4875.

Ans : Captain Anuj Nayyar and his team accomplished the mission of recapturing the Point 4875 at a heavy loss as none of the soldiers could survive the battle. But two days later, the enemy soldiers attempted to recapture it. Then Captain Vikram Batra and his men fought with the infiltrators with unmatched mettle, ensuring that every one of them cleared out of the post. However, he was grievously injured while trying to save Lieutenant Naveen and scumbed to his injuries on the battlefield. They finally succeeded in defending the peak.
