Group - C

I . Answer the following questions:- (Any 6)

10 X 6 = 60

1. " A bat has magic only when the batsman has magic". What did Mr Kumar mean by this?

Ans. The line was said by Mr. Kumar to Ranji to encourage him after losing the bat. This means that a bat cannot improve the scores of a batsman. It is only depending on the talent of the batsman. How well he can play. Ranji could only play well because he had confidence. He was a good player. So we must have our self confidence in every work. Nothing is impossible. (In this way you have to write in your own words). (write minimum 10 lines).

2. Describe the feelings of the old lady when the boy helped her cross the road.

Ans. The old lady was very old. She was waiting for the traffic to stop so that she could cross the road. The road was slippery because there had been a snowfall. Many people saw her waiting, but nobody helped her. Just then, a group of school boys came but nobody helped her. She waited more and more. During this time then, a very nice and happy boy came to her and said that he would help her cross the road. Then the boy helped her cross the road. The old lady thanked him. The old lady felt very good. She in her prayers said that whoever's son that might be, Lord be kind to him for he's somebody's pride and joy.

3. Parvati believed in doing her work well. What is there in the story which suggests that ?

Ans. Parvati believed in doing work well. She used her common sense and painted the pots. She knew that if the pots are colourful she can sell it easily because they will look attractive. She drew by herself. Nobody told her to draw. She wanted to draw lines, shapes, or something rare and magnificent. So she drew the sky, butterfly on a pumpkin flower, the lovely clouds, and the bird's song. She presented her creativity by drawing the waterfall of high and low notes. With her hardwork she painted the pots which sold for 12 panas to the chief queen of King Ashokavardhan and afterwards Laxman and Parvati were made the potters of the royal family.

4. Narrate an incident from your life where you helped someone in some ways .
Ans. (This answer you have to write in your own words). Write an incident from your life where you helped someone in some ways)

Ans. It was winter night. I was coming with my mother walking. We saw a man lying on the footpath. He was suffering . He was hungry and also sick. People passed away. Me and my mother bought some bread and banana and sweets. We gave him. Our house was close so that night we took him and arranged some place for him in our ground floor garage. So the poor man was saved otherwise he would have died that night. After some months that poor man came to my house and gave me some fruits. He said he earned money and he bought fruits only for me. A great feeling came into my heart of gratitude that I saved somebody's life.

5. Who was the noble lady ? What kind of a person was she ?

Ans. A beautiful woman, King Ashokavardhana's Chief Queen. She was very rich and kind.

She liked the poor children. She wanted to help them. She had no feelings of ignorance . She wanted to see the pots. She had curiosity for folk arts. The queen kept on asking about the paintings that were drawn on the pots. She did not show off at all and was very kind. She did not react or said that the price was wrong when Laxman told the price of the pots. The queen motivated Parvati's art.

6. 'Great opportunities to help others seldom come, but small ones surround us every day'. Explain in your own words.

Ans. Small opportunities always are surrounding us. But we are always interested in great opportunities . If we go for great opportunities we will gain huge amount of money or big profit or fame. But if we go for small ones we think that we will not gain anything. This is not correct. We have to think that in small opportunities we can recognise ourselves, whether we are selfish or greedy. In small opportunities we will gain respect, fame, love, affection, knowledge, mental developments, friend's love etc. We may have lot of money but at the same time we may not have good friends or may not get respect from others. Small opportunities get us to success in time.

7. " The voice of the panchayat is the voice of our conscience" . What did Jumman mean by this ?

Ans. " The voice of the panchayat is the voice of our conscience." Conscience means a person's moral sense of right and wrong . In this story we have seen that both Jumman and Alagu were friends. But when they became sarpanch they did not forget their moral sense of right and wrong. Both of them gave the right verdict or judgement. When Jumman became the sarpanch, he came to know that Alagu had not betrayed him. Becoming a sarpanch means having a great responsibility. With responsibility comes power. We should use the power to do justice to the people. (In this way you have write in your own words).

8. One of the most beautiful relationship in the world is that of two friends who love and understand each other. Do you have such a friend ? Write about him/her.

Ans. You have to write in your own words.

I have a friend in school. His name is Rishav Pandey. He sits beside me. Whenever I am absent he rings me and try to know the reason why I am absent. Next day when I go to school he helps me by giving me all the question answers given by my teacher. I also share my tiffin with him. Rishav is a very good speaker. In the last Assembly Rishav spoke on the topic 'mother'. In the coming Assembly I will have to speak. I am not a good speaker . Rishav is helping me so that I can speak very well in the next Assembly. I am not good in Maths. Rishav is very strong in Maths. He always help me in Maths. He has no tutor. He always tell me to study without tutor and save parent's money. I had one tutor before. At present I do self study. He is not only my friend but also my wellwisher and guide. I am proud of my friend Rishav. (In this way you will write).
