Everyone has a dream to achieve something in their life. Some people dream of becoming rich, some want to become famous and some want to make others' lives better by helping them. My dream is to become a scientist. My inspiration is Dr A P J Abdul Kalam . Science always makes me happy . There are so many exciting things to learn in it. I enjoy reading science books on natural processes, inventions, discoveries, plants, animals and human beings. Scientists solve global challenges, make innovations and they get to learn new things every now and then. When I become a scientist, I want to help the society through my ideas. There are so many issues including pollution and global warming. I want to help the world in removing such problems. My parents and teachers always motivate me to study well and passionately work towards achieving my dream.
