LESSON – GEORGE AND RANJI

Answer the following questions:-

1. What did the narrator tell the driver when they were heading towards Kotla?

Ans: The narrator told the driver to take them towards the railway station. But George firmly instructed him to take them towards Kotla. Then the narrator with a tap on the driver's shoulder told him that his cousin is not quite right in the head. He had escaped from a mental asylum. If he needs to take George back there, they must catch the eleven-fifteen train.

2. What made the auto driver get confused? Who did he listen to?

Ans: The driver slowed down and looked at cousin George and to the narrator and back again. He thought for a moment as to who really needed to get back to the mental asylum. George with his smile assured the driver that it was not him. He instead looked at his cousin, the narrator and tapped his forehead significantly to the driver. The driver nodded his head and kept straight on for the stadium.

3. Who, according to the auto driver, was mad? What made him sure of it?

Ans: George gets excited at cricket matches. They had almost reached Kotla but the narrator considered the cricket matches to be very dull. According to the auto driver, the narrator was mad. He understood that the narrator needed to get back to the asylum. The narrator confirmed the driver's fear by jumping off the rickshaw as it slowed down and made his getaway.

4. All's well that ends well, or so I like to think. What made the narrator say these words?

Ans: The narrator said this in the end because his cousin was finally back at the mental asylum. He liked to believe that everything worked well in the end. However, he had a funny feeling about the driver because he never saw him again in Delhi. He thought that he might have gone to some other place. He was afraid that the driver's disappearance would be connected with his cousin George's rickshaw ride.
