Once upon a time. There lived an old crane who lived near a pond. One day, the crane stood pretending to be in deep thought near the pond. The fishes asked him what was the matter.
The crane said that he was worried about them as the pond would soon dry up and they would all die. But he has a plan to save them all. He said he could take them one by one to a bigger pond full of water. And in this way the crane ate up all the fishes.
