I jumped out of bed. My brother ran down the stairs and skipped into the kitchen. Mother pointed to the door. "You each have a job to do before breakfast," Mother said.

"I'll feed the hens," I said.

"I'll gather the firewood," my brother said. We ran out of the door but stopped at the verandah stairs. My brother pointed to the fence. "Look over there," he said.

A kitten had crawled upon the top rail. She stared at us with grey eyes. We both flew off the verandah and raced to the fence. Then we just stood and stared at her. "What should we do?" my brother asked. I reached up and lifted the kitten off the fence. Then I held her tight in my arm.

"I think we're going to have another job added to our list," I said. "Take care of the kitten."
